Counter Assault Team

The Counter Assault Team (CAT) provides direct, tactical support to Secret Service protective details, including those of the president and vice president of the United States. CAT personnel receive advanced training in weapons handling, tactics and decision making. CAT's primary function is to divert, suppress and neutralize an organized attack against a protectee, motorcade or supported location. To accomplish their mission, CAT personnel conduct thorough tactical advance planning and extensive coordination with supporting tactical entities.

CAT members are selected from the ranks of special agents.

“Sean Curran, the detail leader and top boss of Trump’s regular 60-member protective team, and his deputy, Matthew Piant, complained of “rumors, innuendo and toxicity” among the detail, as well as “selfishness and immaturity.”

Curran was one of the agents who quickly used their bodies as human shields to protect Trump in the iconic photo of the assassination attempt showing the former president raising his fist, bloody and defiant, against the backdrop of an American flag.

“The top supervisors who had to sign off on the security plan for the Butler rally are Tim Burke, special agent in charge of the Secret Service’s Pittsburgh Field Office, and Nick Menster, assistant special agent in charge of the Trump detail.” (Source: Real Clear Politics)

“That woman that we see, she was the shift lead. She was the one that a was running, she was the agent in charge number two. She is the one that conducted the advance, she did an abbreviated advance.” (Source: Gary Melton)

Argument For Being Secret Service Operations

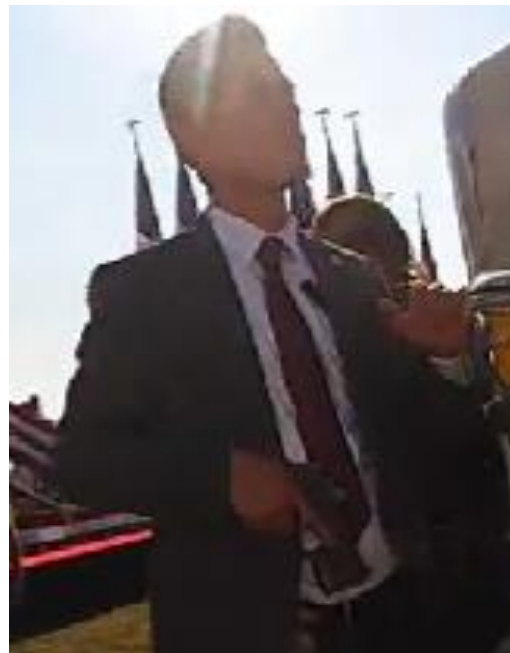

1. In area of tents where operations were believed to be stationed
2. All three were wearing suits (Pittsburgh Office Attire)
3. Talking with a USSS Uniformed Division Police
4. All three had their guns drawn, but hid behind the truck
